

TAYLOR HAMMON

TXM Technology prides itself on the design of bespoke recruitment solutions that benefits our clients, our candidates and ourselves. Our approach is to operate in a consultative manner, and drive towards positive outcomes in everything we do, which maintains our brand promise to always go “The Xtra Mile”.

Taylor has been working within the technology sector for five years now, starting off in circuit board manufacturing before moving onto a more complex industrial-computing design and manufacturer sales role. Over his time in a sales environment working with industry-leading technology Taylor built up a passion for delivering high-quality service and solutions to a client base that he built up, something that he still takes great pride in at TXM Technology.

Taylor joined TXM Technology in 2019, working with the digital team to support and partner with digital agencies and software companies across the south coast. Working within a small but perfectly formed team, Taylor specialises in recruiting for the project Digital South Coast. Using his local knowledge to attract local talent in web/software development and IT Sales and support. Roles he recruits for include:

- Web Developers
- Software Developers
- IT Support
- SEO Executives Web
- Designers
- IT Sales
- IT Consultants
- PPC Executives
- Application Developers
- Account Managers
- Digital Marketers
- Network Engineers

Outside of work Taylor is a lover of gigs and festivals, also playing for his local football team. When he isn't participating in sport, he can usually be found watching it or travelling to new cities with his girlfriend.
