TXM Technology prides itself on the design of bespoke recruitment solutions that benefit both clients and candidates alike. The TXM Group approach is to operate in a consultative manner which maintains the brand promise to always go "The Xtra Mile."

Part of the TXM Technology business, Louise studied Mathematics at The University of Surrey where she covered a variety of statistical and analytical modules, and developed a solid understanding of data modelling with financial applications using software such as R and Matlab.

Louise began her recruitment career while on a student placement scheme with IBM based at their UK head office in Portsmouth. She was initially working within the finance department before she was offered an opportunity to work with the internal recruitment team. Thanks to IBM, Louise discovered her passion for recruitment and was keen to pursue a full-time career in the industry.

Louise joined TXM Technology in 2015, working with the digital team to support and partner with digital agencies and software companies across the south coast. She launched and developed the Digital Analytics Department and used her own experience of data analysis to recruit for specialist data analysts. Louise specialises in recruiting for the digital south coast, using her local knowledge to attract local talent in web and software development. Roles she recruits for include, Front End Developers, Back End Developers, Web Designers, Application Developers, Software Developers, Web Analyst, Data Analysts.

Outside of work, Louise is a pianist and Musical Director for theatre groups and recently won the Southampton Echo Curtain Call award for "Best Musical Director - 2016". She also volunteers as a dog walker at the local RSPCA branch.

What people say

Candidate: "Louise has it all - she's friendly, personable, attentive and motivated. She was very focused on getting the perfect fit and company environment that I was looking for! Extremely happy working with her!"

Candidate: "I found Louise had an enthusiastic and diligent approach, and she was very knowledgeable of the client and position she was recruiting for. I also appreciated her follow-up calls which gave me an opportunity to raise any concerns or queries, and she was always able to answer them fully. Would definitely recommend her as a consultant for anyone looking for a new move!"
